BIG CHANGES ARE COMING ON THE HARRIMAN ROADS

W. F. Park Detached From the Union Pacific and Sent on a Tour of Inspection Over the Entire Harriman System—Many Promotions Follow—Bancroft and Calvin Depart for the Hawaiian Islands on a Pleasure Trip

In connection with recent orders issued by Vice-President Kruittschnitt, from Chicago headquarters, rumors of almost every conceivable nature are sweeping over the Harriman lines from Omaha to the Pacific Coast and are the subjects of quiet discussion in the inner circles of the officialdom at all important centers of the western Harriman system.

As a result of these orders, General Superintendent W. F. Park, conceded to be among the premier of operating officials of western railroads—has been temporarily detached from the Union Pacific system and added to the personal staff of Vice-President Kruittschnitt, with orders to make an inspection tour, in company with O. Rowell of Kruittschnitt's staff, of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Oregon Short Line, Oregon Railway & Navigation company and other coast lines of the Harriman system. This work will require from six weeks to two months' time, and it is understood that every operating department of the various roads mentioned will undergo close scrutiny from Messrs. Parks and Rowell, who will embody such changes as they deem best in their report to Vice-President Kruittschnitt.

The assignment is in the nature of a high compliment to Mr. Park's ability as a successful railroad official, and is generally regarded as a promotion to mean his early promotion from his present position as general superintendent of the Union Pacific.

Whether or not these orders had anything to do with the recent conference between General Manager Bancroft and General Manager O'Brien of the Oregon Navigation & Railway company is not known at this time.

And to add to the mystery surrounding recent orders and probable changes, it is said that General Manager Bancroft, who passed through Ogden yesterday afternoon, en route to Oakland, will extend his present trip to the Hawaiian Islands in company with General Manager E. E. Calvin of the Southern Pacific system.

Local officials say they can neither deny nor affirm the story of Bancroft and Calvin's trip to Honolulu, but it is generally conceded that if this ocean trip is made, those officials will be absent from their respective official positions, during the time that General Superintendent Park and Mr. Rowell are inspecting and investigating conditions on the Oregon Short Line and Southern Pacific systems.

During General Superintendent Park's absence from Omaha, Charles Ware, superintendent of the Nebraska division, will become acting general superintendent of the Union Pacific; W. R. Cahill will become acting superintendent of the Nebraska division; T. J. Foley, superintendent of terminals at Omaha, will be made assistant to Superintendent Cahill, and J. W. Adams, chief clerk in Superintendent Ware's office, will be made superintendent of terminals at Omaha. At the same time W. A. Whitney, superintendent of the Utah division, is absent on a vacation and enjoying life at the Arkansas Springs—in total ignorance, of course, of what is occurring on his pet road.

OGDEN FRUIT FACTORY TO GROWERS TO BUILD CLOSE ON JAN. 25

GROUND IS PURCHASED FOR A SHIPPING STATION.

Building May Be Constructed of Corrugated Iron in Order to Obtain Best Results in Cooling.

The Ogden Fruit Growers' association has purchased a tract of land at the corner of Spencer and Wall avenues as a site for the new packing and shipping station. The land is in the vicinity of the Rio Grande freight station, and is admirably located for the purpose in view.

Manager J. M. Forristall will leave shortly for California where he will visit a number of the large fruit packing stations with a view of determining the most approved style of building for the local needs. It was thought at first to build of brick or concrete, but there is now a possibility that corrugated iron will be the material selected as a building of this construction is more easily cooled and ventilated than one of brick.

Construction on the building will be commenced as soon as it is determined what material is the most desirable and what dimensions are considered necessary. The structure will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 and will add much to the efficiency of the organization in shipping to the outside world the products of Ogden orchards.

MOUTH NO PLACE FOR COINS.

Dangerous Practice Too Frequently Indulged in by Women.

"Women are addicted to many pernicious habits," observed a physician, "but I cannot conceive of one that is more idiotic than the placing of coins in the mouth while the purse or money bag is being opened. Most women do this, especially in the street cars, and are doubtless unmindful of the fact that they are thereby inviting dangerous throat and lung troubles. I have often watched women holding coins between their lips, and have been very strongly tempted to utter an admonishing word. Only to-day I saw a beautiful girl give a conductor a dime. Sitting opposite to her was a dirty-looking man, whose hands looked as if they hadn't been washed for a week. He gave the conductor a nickel and the conductor handed it to the young woman in change for her dime. She placed it between her lips while she opened her money bag. Why does not some ingenious woman introduce a small pocket or some device in the feminine wardrobe that will take the place of the lips for holding coins? Certainly she would be a benefactor to her sex."

Inconceivable.

The surges crashed mournfully in the darkness against the old pier. "This blow," he said, "is one from which, alas, I shall not recover. Never more will I look upon the face of woman in bitterness and sorrow."

The young girl, profoundly moved, said in gentle tones: "Do not take my refusal so to heart, Mr. Mannerly. Harold. There are lots of nice girls left, I assure you. I know one of the Surf house who would suit you precisely. She is pretty, amiable, clever."

"Has she got any money?" he interrupted.

Eight thousand tons of sugar beets to be treated.

Fred G. Taylor of Le Grande, Oregon, on a Visit to the Local Plant of Amalgamated.

Fred G. Taylor, superintendent and manager of the LeGrande, Oregon, sugar factory, is in the city on his annual visit of inspection to the local factory. Mr. Taylor was formerly an Ogden boy, making his start in the beet sugar world as an employee at the local plant and rising rapidly in his profession. He states that the LeGrande factory has had a successful campaign this year and that he anticipates a better run for 1909.

The Ogden sugar factory is running to its full capacity night and day. There are in the neighborhood of 8,000 tons of beets yet on hand, but, unless unforeseen obstacles arise, the run will be practically completed by January 22, and the factory closed down by the 25th.

Most of the beets are now in the sheds awaiting sugar extraction, the huge piles on the ground adjoining the plant having been transferred to the bins. There were fully 22,000 tons of beets stacked on one time on the piling grounds and from 60 to 70 teams of nearby farmers have been employed for several weeks in making the transfer. Practically no damage at all was sustained through the cold snap of a few weeks past, the covering of snow protecting the beets to a considerable extent.

Great care is used in handling the beets stacked outside to avoid rotting. The beets are constantly inspected by experts and, if frozen and there are signs of their thawing out, those affected are immediately used before the frozen beets have time to spoil. A frozen beet is not impaired as to its sugar-producing qualities, but a spoiled beet may cause considerable trouble in the sugar making.

DIFFERENT KIND OF SOUVENIR.

English Tourist's Mind Somewhat Hazy on American History.

A couple of English tourists "seeing New York" were busily occupied the other afternoon in looking over the stock of a Fifth Avenue shop devoted to the sale of Indian curios and handicrafts. They were evidently investing in souvenirs of this barbaric land with which to dazzle the eyes of their English relatives on their return.

They had chosen one or two baskets, some beads and wampum, and several pairs of moccasins, and were now turning their attention to smaller things, possibly for little nieces and nephews "at home." A very gaudy "pipe of peace" found favor with them, and the salesman was encouraged to bring out another trifle, a harmless-looking hatchet sort of object.

"Don't you think you ought to take a tomahawk?" he asked.

The Englishman's eyes gleamed—here was the real thing.

"By jove, yes," he said, seizing it, but his wife put out a restraining hand.

"Why, John," she said, "don't buy that, we've bought one of those already. In Washington, don't you know?"

"But that wasn't a tomahawk," he objected, "they called it something else."

And he paused, his mind struggling with the intricacy of American historical relics.

"Oh, I know," he breathed with a sigh of disgusted recollection, "that was George Washington's blowed hatchet."

AMERICAN RELIEF PARTY OFF FOR MESSINA

WILL SAIL FROM CIVITA VECCHIA ON THE BAYERN.

Ambassador Griscom Will Meet Admiral Sperry in Straits, and Battleships Will Aid Italy.

Rome, Jan. 7.—A train left this morning for Civita Vecchia, with the American relief party, headed by Ambassador Griscom on board. They will sail for Messina on board the steamer Bayern chartered to convey the American relief to the south. The party includes William Hooper, of Boston; Nelson Gay, of Boston; John Elliott, Wilfred Thompson, and a score of other Americans, including doctors and nurses. Mrs. Griscom, Mrs. Gay and Mrs. Elliott accompany the relief workers as far as Civita Vecchia. The ambassador is going only as far as the straits of Messina, where he will start the Bayern on its work of relief. He will meet Admiral Sperry, who is coming from Port Said on board the flagship Connecticut, in the straits, and return with the Connecticut to Naples. The American battleships following the Connecticut north will be placed at the disposal of the Italian authorities.

Women Fishermen—Flemish Style.

On the coasts of Holland, Belgium and northern France the fishermen are a familiar sight, with their great hand nets and quaint costumes. Many of the towns have distinctive costumes by which their women can be recognized anywhere. Those of Mafra-Kirke, near Ostend, wear trousers and loose blouses, while their heads and shoulders are covered by shawls. They carry their nets into the sea and scoop up vast quantities of shrimps and prawns, with an occasional crab or lobster and many small fish. They often wade out till the water is up to their necks, and they remain for hours at a time in water above their knees, rarely returning until their baskets are full.

The Kaiser's Rhenish Castle.

A couple of days ago it was announced that the administration of the German domain had decided to put the royal castles of Benrath and Jagerhof, on the Rhine, near Düsseldorf, for sale, as their upkeep entailed too great an outlay.

It is now stated that it has been decided to undertake the restoration of the royal castle of Brühl, on the Rhine. This castle, which stands near Cologne, is very rich in sculpture and fresco paintings, and its restoration will be a long and costly affair. It will be carried out by Herr Wittig, the architect of the royal court, at the expense of the Kaiser's privy purse.

Old Persian City.

Persia's ancient city of Tabriz, one of the scenes of recent violence in the shah's dominions, can hardly be said to have ever enjoyed a quiet life. When Turk and Turcoman and Persian were not shaking the old walls with battering rams the earthquake was having its inning. The public buildings bear traces of this sort of violence—namely the Kabud Masjid—blue mosque—constructed of wonderfully arabesque blue tiles; while the citadel gapes with its earthquake-riven sides. Although the Anglo-Indian telegraph runs through the city, it is not as in the ancient days when it was known as the "glorious Tauris." The new Russian railway has deprived it of much of its importance and the leather merchants and silversmiths eke out a precarious livelihood by engaging in a little smuggling.

What a Doctor Learns.

A young doctor thinks a doctor is about the greatest thing in the world, and talks a great deal about the dignity of his profession, but an old doctor has very little to say about the dignity of his profession, and takes no medicine.—Atchison Globe.

DEMOCRATS ARE IN CONTROL OF LEGISLATURE

THEY WILL ELECT A SENATOR FROM INDIANA.

Legislation to Repeal the County Local Option Law Is Anticipated.

Indianapolis, Jan. 7.—The sixty-sixth Indiana general assembly, which convenes today, promises to be one of the most interesting held in years. For the first time in eighteen years, the Democrats will be in control of the legislature and will elect a successor to James A. Hemenway. There are six candidates. John W. Kern of this city, L. Edward Shack of Franklin, and B. F. Shively of South Bend, seem, at this time, to have the largest following. It is admitted, however, that unless a combination is formed, none of these candidates can win. Legislation to repeal the county local option law, the legalizing of Sunday baseball in Indianapolis and the repeal of the metropolitan police law are looked for.

DEADLOCK ON THE CANVASS OF THE VOTE

THERE WILL BE NO INAUGURAL IN ILLINOIS ON MONDAY.

Senate Ready to Inaugurate Gov. Deane and Other State Officers, but Serves Notice on Shortliffe Faction.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 7.—The legislature is in deadlock on the canvass of the vote cast for state officers, and there will be no inaugural on Monday next, which is the date when the new state officers would be inducted into office under ordinary conditions.

The senate is in readiness to go ahead with the inauguration of Governor Deane and all the other state officers, but it has served notice upon the Shortliffe organization in the house that it will not participate in the joint session to canvass the vote until it is fully advised as to the plan of procedure relative to the recount which the Democrats demand on the governorship.

On the other hand, the house is in readiness to hold the joint session for canvassing the vote, and to this end sent its joint resolution to the senate today.

Because of his inability to get an understanding from the Shortliffe organization, the senate referred the house resolution to a committee of three and adjourned until tomorrow.

WHEN TROUSERS WERE DECRIED

On Their First Appearance Many Considered Them Indecorous.

It is hard to think back to the days when men did not wear trousers such as now encase the limbs of all the masculine one meets. Harder still to believe that these garments were by many considered immoral on their first appearance, and that one of the most numerous of all religious denunciations for a long while forbade its ministers appearing in the pulpit clothed in apparel so frivolous.

It is a fact that trousers, introduced by the duke of Wellington, came in slowly and were for a long time looked upon as a light-minded departure from the serious and conventional in men's dress.

And now, should any sober-minded gentleman venture to lay these ubiquitous and ugly garments aside, and prance down the street clad in the brief knee-breeches and hose of his progenitors, he would no doubt incur the accusation of being an indecorous trifler.

So much has custom to do with our sartorial morals!

COLD WAVE SWEEPS OVER ENTIRE COUNTRY

ONLY TERRITORY WEST OF THE ROCKIES IS EXEMPT.

44 Degrees Below Zero North of Lake Superior, Snowstorm in East and Threatening Weather in South.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Featured by a drop of 44 degrees below zero north of Lake Superior, a snowstorm in this section, threatening weather in the south, with freezing temperature and frost predicted for Northern Florida and Georgia and Carolina coasts, a cold wave today stretches over the entire country east of the Rocky mountains. Up in the British Northwest, a cold wave has re-developed. The cold has moderated west of the Mississippi river, although the Northern blizzard still very low and clouds have served to lessen the cold's intensity in the east. The influence of the North Pacific coast-storm is felt as far east as Lake Michigan, snow falling generally within this area.

FOOTBALL PLAYER IS DECLARED TO BE SANE

Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—Elbridge Heath, one of the best-known football players in the United States, has been discharged by the lunacy commission after an examination for Northern mental condition. The commission decided there was no evidence to show that Heath is insane.

In 1895 Heath was a member of the football team of Minnesota university and from 1898 to 1901 he was a member of the Chicago university team.

DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 114 CALLS IN 24 HOURS

Chicago, Jan. 7.—After answering ninety-two fire alarms in the bitter cold last night, the fire department found no rest today. They were called to a half a dozen fires due to over-heated furnaces and stoves, and responded to sixteen alarms turned in by some alleged joker. In the twenty-four hours up to 9 a. m. today, the department had answered a total of 114 calls. The thermometer stood at zero today.

ONE BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE DESTROYING HOTEL

Winchester, Ky., Jan. 7.—The Fort hotel was totally destroyed by fire early today. H. L. Ellis of Cynthiana, an employee of the Burley Tobacco company, is supposed to have been burned to death. James Donohue, of Winchester, Miss. Hallie Veal, of Lexington, and several others were dangerously injured by jumping from the windows. The loss is about $30,000.

On a Banana Farm.

It is estimated that a single bunch of bananas coming from South America passes through not less than 12 pairs of hands before it is finally restored aboard a ship en route to a northern market. As soon as the tree is cut and a large bunch detached it is swung on to the head of a native laborer and started to the collecting point on the plantation. Long lines of natives may be seen filing from the depths of the banana forest, bearing the bunches of fruit.

When the bunches are all gathered they are put on a car and carried to the wharf, where they are unloaded and again passed through a chain of hands to the ship's hold.

Year's Imports and Exports.

The combined imports and exports for the 12 months ending June 30, 1908, were $2,055,000,000. It compares favorably with the total for the preceding year, in which our foreign trade was $2,315,000,000, and $2,571,000,000 two years ago. This contrast shows that in the latest years our volume of foreign trade has fallen off somewhat less than 10 per cent, due wholly to a decrease in imports of about 12 per cent from the preceding year.—Wall Street Journal.
